

JESSICA CLEMENTS

AIA | Principal / Partner

Jessica Clements brings a unique perspective and multidisciplinary approach to design in her work at Studio Outside. As a registered Architect with over ten years of experience in landscape architecture and urban design her work focuses on the “space between buildings” to create cohesive sites. Jessica’s work is inspired by the idea of creating experiential spaces through a lens of contextual systems (ecological, social, physical). She brings to her work a strength in communication: from persuasive conceptual design graphics to conveying the design intent through the construction process.

Jessica has been an integral team member on several notable retail, mixed-use, and master plan projects at Studio Outside. She also has lectured and taught as an adjunct faculty member at the University of Texas, Arlington in the College of Architecture, Planning, and Public Affairs. Prior to joining Studio Outside, she contributed to two ASLA National Excellence in Planning Award-winning projects for work done in New Orleans. In her spare time, she enjoys the perspective of our landscapes by running and cycling through them.
